THE SUBMARINE DISASTER.

ALL HANDS NOW
FEARED LOST.

FRANTIC SEARCH
UNAVAILING.

FATE UNKNOWN.

London, Jan. 27.
Although hope has not been entirely abandoned, the gravest fears are now entertained regarding the fate of 56 officers and men of the submarine M2.
The vessel has not been seen and no signal has been received from her since she dived off Portland Bill on Friday morning, and although numerous naval craft, assisted by planes, have been continuously searching the area since the alarm was first raised yesterday evening, so far the vessel has not been definitely located.

The M2 was equipped with a small Parnell P.V. aeroplane and among the missing men are two members of the Royal Air Force personnel, Lieut. H. C. Topham and Lieut. C. R. Townsend.
The officers of the submarine are Lieut. Commander J. D. de M. Leathley, commanding, Lieut. S. Macdonald, Lieut. H. C. R. Hens, Sub-Lieut. T. G. Hill and Wt. Engineer E. P. Bickel.

FEAR THAT WU'S REPLY WILL PROVE UNSATISFACTORY.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT).

SHANGHAI, Jan. 28.

THE REPLY TO THE JAPANESE ULTIMATUM has been promised by Mr. Wu Tieh-chen, the Mayor of Greater Shanghai, to-day, but it is believed that it has been very loosely worded and will prove unacceptable to the Japanese.

The application of a time-limit (six o'clock this evening) by Mr. Murai, has been followed by a hint of a blockade of Chinese ships off Woosung where five Japanese warships and two aeroplane-carriers are now stationed, with their guns trained upon the forts.

Meanwhile, the situation is growing increasingly tense and Mr. J. F. Brennan, the British Consul-General, and Mr. Cunningham, the American Consul-General, have warned their nationals in the outlying areas to be prepared to come into the International Settlement at any moment.

Special meetings of the Consular Body and of the Municipal Council have been convened for this afternoon, when a statement of emergency will be declared.

Later, The Councillors were summoned to a meeting in the Council Chamber at noon and it was then unanimously decided to declare a state of emergency with effect at 4 p.m. The proclamation authorises the adoption of requisite measures for the maintenance of order and good government in the Settlement.

It is highly probable that as a precautionary measure, orders will be issued for the mobilisation of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps.

It is understood that Mr. Wu Tieh-chen has ordered the closing of the anti-Japanese Association, following a further conference with politicians from Nanking. A representative of the Chinese Municipal Government visited the Japanese Consulate last night and conferred for two hours.

The window and wall of the Japanese Consulate were damaged by a bomb thrown by an unknown man this morning. It is stated that there are now over 15,000 Chinese troops in and around Greater Shanghai.

REFUGEES. POURING INTO SETTLEMENT.

(Special to the "Telegraph").

Shanghai, Jan. 28.

It is reliably learned that upon the receipt of a further Japanese ultimatum, fixing the time-limit for the reply to Admiral Shiosawa's demands, the Chinese municipal authorities have instructed the Bureau of Public Safety to effect the suppression of the Anti-Japanese Societies.

Meanwhile, Japanese residents from the extra-settlement roads are moving into the Settlement, Japanese employees of the cotton mills at Woosung are expected to reach Shanghai this morning, and the entire Japanese population of Soochow, comprising fifty men, women and children, arrived late last evening.

In the event of the declaration of a state of emergency by the Municipal Council, the Japanese Admiral has intimated that he will waive the right to be regarded as having control of the Settlement. Reuter.

THE CRISIS.

London, Jan. 27.
In a stirring speech at the Albert Hall to-night the Prince of Wales sent out a rallying call to the whole of England, young and old, to give of their best during the national crisis.

There were nearly ten thousand boys and girls in the Albert Hall, hanging on the Prince's every word, while the speech was also broadcast.

The Prince urged all to "enlist for the duration," for "we are not just facing a few months of grim and hard work. He appealed particularly on behalf of the unemployed, urging all those in work to play the part of neighbour and friend to the unemployed. Reuter.

There were no casualties, but considerable excitement ensued.

CONVERSION BY HYPNOTISM.

SERIOUS CAIRO
FRACAS.

U. S. MISSIONARY ACCUSED.

(Reuter's Special Service).

Cairo, Jan. 27.

Allegations that an American missionary used hypnotic suggestion in order to secure the conversion to the Christian faith of a Moslem student form the remarkable feature of investigations following a first-class fracas in Cairo to-day.

A large crowd of indignant Moslems were the originators of the outbreak. They attacked a café which they proceeded to wreck. The police were quickly on the scene and several of the attackers were arrested. It was then claimed by the Moslems that the café was being run by American missionaries with the object of attracting Moslems in order ultimately to convert them.

They charged that one of the Moslem students had been converted by an American's use of hypnotism.

The converted student is being sheltered by his friends as he is being threatened with death. The American University authorities disclaim knowledge of the missionary concerned in the affair.

THE BATTLE FOR HARBIN.

CIVILIANS KILLED AND WOUNDED.

TOKYO-AIDED ARMY DEFEATED:
CITY IN PANIC.

JAPANESE RUSH TROOPS: ALLEGED OUTRAGES.

HARBIN IS IN a state of panic. The whole city has been plunged into darkness, and according to a Japanese version of the dramatic events of the past twenty-four hours, a virtual reign of terror has been instituted by the victorious troops of General Ting Chao.

A Tokyo message (through Reuter) states that following fighting between General Ting Chao's troops and the attacking force under the Japanese-supported General Hsi Hsia, nominally new Governor of Kirin, an orgy of looting and plundering has set in at Harbin.

JAPANESE ALLEGATIONS.

The Japanese state that Ting Chao's soldiery have looted the residences of a number of wealthy Japanese and Koreans, and also a Japanese hospital. In consequence of the gravity of the situation, according to Japanese press messages from Harbin, it may be necessary to despatch Japanese troops to protect Japanese lives and property, which appear to be endangered.

It is reported in Tokyo that the Japanese are rushing troops to Harbin from Changchun.

REUTER'S OWN VERSION OF SITUATION.

Reuter's correspondent in Harbin, cabling this morning, reports that the new Kirin troops under the Japanese-supported General Hsi Hsia have been forced to retreat.

The engagement lasted for four hours, and in its course a Japanese aeroplane assisting the Hsi Hsia troops was shot down. The attack was beaten off and ended at about 12.30 p.m. yesterday.

Several civilians were killed and wounded by gunfire and aerial bombs, and the town is in panic.

Reuter's correspondent says nothing about the alleged reign of terror and the orgy of looting, but adds that a renewal of the fighting is expected in the course of this evening.

Tokyo, later. Telegraphic and telephonic communication between Changchun and Harbin has been cut off, and considerable anxiety is felt regarding the fate of the large Japanese colony in Harbin, according to Press messages from Changchun.

Press reports also state that Chinese troops at Kwang-chengtz, the terminus of the southern section of the Chinese Eastern Railway, started disturbances at midnight, and seized the station.

Another despatch reports that a passenger train from Harbin, which was due at Kwangchengtzu this morning, has been held up at Yuomen, owing to the disturbed situation. Reuter.

MORE HINTS OF POSSIBLE
JOINT ACTION.
ANXIOUS WATCHING.

New York, Jan. 27.
United States officials are anxiously watching developments in Shanghai. President Hoover has discussed the situation with the Cabinet, and later conferred with the Secretary of State, Mr. Stimson, whose policy hitherto has been one of conciliation, but is now described as being "determined to uphold American rights."
There are indications that the State Department is making overtures to Britain with a view to eventual joint action on a united front if necessary, according to the Herald-Tribune, which also says that instructions have been sent to the United States Consul General at Shanghai, presumably reflecting the attitude of the State Department that armed interference with the International Settlement by Japan is unjustified.—Reuter's American Service.

Looking to Britain.
London, Jan. 27.
The Times correspondent at Washington states that it remains to be seen whether the obvious Anglo-American identity of interest vis-a-vis the International Settlement can now be translated into co-operative action.
Admittedly, such co-operation was lacking in connexion with the American Note to China and Japan on January 7, but the distinction between the issues at stake in Manchuria and in Shanghai is so sharp that Washington would find it difficult to assign comfortable reasons for Britain to deny co-operation, which there is no secret it has made overtures to secure.
It is trustworthily indicated that Washington desires Britain to agree to simultaneous diplomatic action, designed simultaneously to hold China to a sense of the possible dangers impending, and to withhold from Japan any excuse for blockade action. There is no question as to the importance Washington attaches to London's decision.—Reuter.

U.S. View Communicated.
London, Later.
It is learned from very reliable sources that the American Government yesterday communicated to the British Ambassador its views concerning the Shanghai position, which were immediately forwarded to London. The Cabinet is earnestly considering the position, but as the problem is still under review no information as to the Government's views is available.
Similarly, details of the American Note are unknown, and it is impossible at the moment to speculate as regards the nature of the British reply, which will be governed by the most complex considerations of international policy as well as the interests of the British community at Shanghai.
It is officially denied that the Government has sent a Note to Japan.—Reuter.

Plan for Co-Operation.
London, Jan. 27.
Referring to the Sino-Japanese dispute during an address on the prospects of disarmament, Mr. Wickham Steed, former editor of the Times, said Britain had turned her back on America when America sent a protest to Japan. Another serious situation had now arisen at Shanghai, and if we did not stand by the side of the United States in this matter, then goodbye for many a long year to any prospects of Anglo-American co-operation for disarmament and reduction of war debts, or anything else.
He added that the United States had joined Britain in a vain search for peace without responsibility, and he was of opinion that the pro-

MAKE YOUR SKIN CLEAR.
Wonderful Curative Powers of Zam-Buk Explained.

The human skin, to keep flexible and healthy, secretes a supply of oils in the tiny glands inside the tissues. When this "oil bath" dries up, the skin becomes rough and irritable and often breaks out in disfiguring disease.
Recent scientific research has discovered a secret of the ancient races whereby an alternative for this natural lubrication of the skin was produced by compounding the highly-potent oils of certain rare herbs into precious ointment.
To-day that most wonderful preparation, Zam-Buk, combines all the old secrets of skin treatment with twentieth century medical knowledge and manufacturing skill. On the careful selection and scientific manner in which the valuable herbal extracts are blended together depends the marvellous soothing and curative powers of Zam-Buk.
Whether used for eczema, ulcers, poisoned sores, or for minor troubles like cuts, bruises, pimples, insect bites, etc., Zam-Buk is always ready to soothe and heal. It ends pain like magic, always itching and inflammation and destroys disease germs. Nothing else goes right to the roots of the trouble like Zam-Buk. It draws out corruption and makes the entire skin healthy and wholesome.
Zam-Buk, guaranteed free from all animal fats, is sold in handy size boxes of all chemists and dispensaries. Agents: Messrs Gilman & Co., Ltd., 4A, Des Vaux Road, Hongkong.

spects of the Geneva conference were very poor.—Reuter.
"Guardian" Again.
London, Jan. 27.
The Manchester Guardian in a leader says the protection of Japanese lives and property at Shanghai is a considerable undertaking. It is difficult to see how interference with the International Settlement will be avoided. The League Council is again having secret meetings, whereby it is hoped to persuade Japan not to exacerbate the situation, and China not to press for further action until the Commission of Inquiry has reported; but probably Admiral Shiroawa will continue being "positive," quite irrespective of what happens at Geneva, with what consequences it is impossible to foretell.—Reuter.

A Time Limit.
Shanghai, Jan. 27.
The Japanese Consul General, Mr. Murai, at eight o'clock to-night, delivered an ultimatum to Mayor Wu Te-chen, demanding that a definite reply to the Japanese demands be delivered to the Japanese Consulate by 6 p.m. to-morrow.—Reuter.

Navy May Act.
Shanghai, Jan. 27.
It is authoritatively learned that the Consul General at Shanghai will insist on the Mayor replying to the Japanese demands, but if the reply be unsatisfactory it is understood the Consul General must refer to Tokyo for further instructions, before taking any drastic action; though the Naval Commander at Shanghai may order the occupation of the Anti-Japanese Society's headquarters, without more ado, if he considers it advisable.—Reuter Special.

Council's Queries.
Geneva, Jan. 27.
The anxiety of the League Council to avert a fresh conflagration was emphasised at the secret meeting yesterday evening, when M. Boncour and Sir Eric Drummond and British, German and Italian delegates received the Japanese, and subsequently the Chinese, delegate.
M. Boncour dwelt impressively with the situation at Shanghai, and the importance of preventing an extension of the conflict. Baron Sato was asked to furnish the latest information on the subject, and he communicated several telegrams showing a slight improvement, but emphasised that the headquarters of the anti-Japanese agitation was centred in Shanghai.
He said that Japan was determined to protect her interests, but

SHANGHAI STUDENTS MAKE MARTYR OF COLLEAGUE KILLED IN NANKING.

Prior to their clash with police of the International Settlement several thousand Shanghai students, with a sprinkling of political agitators, assembled to pay homage to Yang Tung-hong, student who met his death at Nanking during the riots on December 17 in which the plant of the Central Daily News, was wrecked. Our picture shows a section of the crowd assembled at West Gate public recreation ground listening to speeches from fiery orators before the procession which ultimately clashed with the Settlement police, moved off.

The British Army team defeated the Malayan Chinese by the odd goal in three in a recent match in Shanghai. But they only won after a hard fight and by a penalty scored in the last minute of the match. The tourists played well. Above are two scenes when the Chinese and Britishers were fighting for the lead.

Above is shown the coffin said to have contained the remains of Yang Tung-hong, which was carried through the city by fellow-students who were finally dispersed by the police in Hongkong.

Gems of Peril
HAZEL

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY.

Mary Harbison plans to ensure The Fly, who "framed" her brother, Eddie, with the murder of Mrs. Jupiter, and ran him down to keep him from telling. Mr. Jupiter aids her, as does Howard of the Star. Everyone else believes Eddie guilty, including Dirk Ruyther, Mary's fiancé, who forbids her to investigate further. His family objects to the suit.

Bruce Jupiter and a questionable friend, Courtney Louder, try to rob Mary, believing she is a multi-millionaire trying to steal Bruce's inheritance. They follow The Fly to Miami. Bruce quarrels with Louder over a diamond bracelet given her by The Fly as security for a debt. She says it is Mary's. Bruce makes her give it to Mary, who discovers it was stolen from Mrs. Jupiter the night she was killed. The bracelet is locked up as evidence.

Wearing the famous Jupiter necklace, Mary dances with The Fly. She accidentally left alone with him, he seizes the necklace in her handbag. Under the excuse of protecting it for her, he puts it in his pocket. They do an exhibition dance during which he kisses her. Dirk, who has come to Miami with the party of Cornelius Taylor, Mary's rival, knocks De Loma down.

Dirk twists his ankle and faints. Mary has him carried to a cab. On the way The Fly skips with the bracelet in his pocket but a policeman brings him back and makes him return the bracelet.

CHAPTER XXI

"Look in your pocket—it must have fallen out!" Mary appealed to De Loma.

Had he had time to extract the necklace and hide it somewhere, before the policeman saw him? She held her breath. "What must have fallen out?"

"Why—the necklace?"

His eyebrows went up. "But you told me Mr. Bates had it!"

Mary coloured, but her eyes never left his face. The detective moved closer.

"Come on," he said, roughly, "fork up, if you've got it."

Smiling venomously, De Loma drew his hand out of his pocket and handed her—the ruby necklace. At most dizzy with relief, she dropped it into her handbag again. The gaping hole in the wall of the car paid off, and they moved away unwillingly—fascinated watchers of the scene.

She laid a pleading hand on his. He jerked his hand away.

"What is this?" he blazed at her. Kidnapping? Take me back to the hotel at once? As for you, you dirty snake—" He glared at De Loma who lifted supercilious eyebrows and continued to gaze straight ahead. But the sudden movement had silenced Dirk; pain in the twisted ankle made him lean back and draw his breath hissing in an effort to avoid crying out.

The cab stopped at the pier, and Mary peered out uncertainly into the dark. A new danger presented itself—this deserted spot, a crippled man on her hands, and no one but this unsuspecting cab-driver for a protector.

Out of the shadows a large young man in sailor uniform appeared and touched his cap.

"You for the 'Gypsy'?" I'm to take you aboard."

Mary recognized a member of the deck crew, and breathed a sigh of relief. The massive young man lifted Dirk as if he had been a baby, and with very little aid got him into the dinghy. Mary took the precaution of going first. De Loma followed, hesitatingly. Obviously he was more than anxious to come along, and merely waiting an invitation to jump aboard, too. Mary gave it—enthusiastically enough, now that she was so soon to be safely on board and this nightmare of anxiety ended.

"Do come!" she begged. "There'll be cocktails. And the boat can bring you back whenever you like!"

A second taxi drew up at the end of the pier. Before it could unload its passengers, Mary cried, "Quick! Before the reporters come!" Without a backward look, De Loma stepped into the boat and they shoved off.

The taxi cab's passenger turned out to be George Bowen. Mary could see the familiar slouchy figure plainly under the light, as he paid off his cab-driver, and ambled about the pier. She could not imagine what his errand was, and she had no time to find out. They must get Dirk aboard and into a doctor's hands. He had lapsed into unconsciousness again—which was merciful—since the small boat bounded like a cork.

It was only a short row to the "Gypsy" but it seemed miles to Mary with Dirk lying white and still against her shoulder. As the dinghy scraped along the side of the yacht a sailor ran down the suspended gangplank and pulled them against the stage. Captain Hendricks was a step behind him. The sight of his bulky figure was like a lighthouse in a storm to Mary.

"Captain, it's Mr. Ruyther," she almost sobbed. "He's hurt terribly."

"There, now, Miss Mary," he said brusquely. "Everything will be all right. We'll fix him up. You and the gentleman climb out now and I'll take care of the young man."

Mary scrambled up the gangplank. De Loma on her heels. To either they peered over the rail as Captain Hendricks came pulling up, sure-footed as a mountain goat, with the injured man a senseless burden in his arms. Mary ran along the deck opening doors until she found a cabin that was not occupied. The captain deposited his burden on the low bed and, stripping off his coat, prepared to make an examination.

"How was he hurt?" he asked curiously, as he raised Dirk and slipped off his coat, unfastening his collar.

"I think it must be his leg, Captain. He fell—"

"Get me a knife."

Mary ran swiftly down the deck, and down the gangway to the galley. In the drawer she found a butcher knife and hurried back with it. De Loma was leaning on the rail. She halted a steward and told him to take the man's order.

"I hardly needed a knife so large," Captain Hendricks smiled, but he accepted it, and quickly cut Dirk's shoe laces and split the opening large. Dirk turned and moaned as the captain tugged at the shoe.

"Bad sprain there," he ripped off the sock and disclosed an ankle already swollen and purple. "Hot packs for a few hours, plenty of

4. That the balance of 300,000 Shares constituting the Company's unissued Capital be issued at such time or times in such manner and for such purposes and upon such terms and conditions in every respect as the Company's Board of Directors may decide.

HOSTILITIES BEGIN.

SETTLEMENT EFFORTS BREAK DOWN.

Tokyo, Jan. 27.
 Hostilities broke out at 9.40 a.m. between the Tingchow forces and Hsi Hsin's Kirin troops after attempts to reach a peaceful settlement had broken down, according to Harbin messages to the press here.—Reuter.

Japan's Interest.

Tokyo, Jan. 27.
 It is indicated that while official circles consider that at present there is no need to despatch Japanese troops to Harbin, yet if the lives of the 6,000 Japanese there are in any way endangered, "it may become necessary to send a detachment from Taitohar or Changchun for protective purposes."

The latest news from Harbin is that the Kirin troops have begun to retreat this afternoon, pursued by Ting Chao's forces.—Reuter Special.

Fighting Continues.

Tokyo, Jan. 27.
 A message from Harbin states that a Japanese commercial plane, when about to land at the local airport, was fired on by Ting Chao's troops.
 Meanwhile, fighting between Ting Chao and Hsi Hsin is continuing, and the Japanese Volunteers have been called out to afford protection to the Japanese colony.—Reuter.

Sino-Japanese Clash.

Tokyo, Jan. 27.
 Chinese troops shot down a Japanese aeroplane which was carrying out a reconnaissance flight near Harbin. The plane contained two officials, and while one of them was proceeding to Harbin to report the incident Chinese troops shot the other dead.

Japanese volunteers from Harbin went to the scene and burned the plane, then set a landmine, which exploded when the Chinese went near, resulting in one being killed and thirty injured.

During the past twenty-four hours, two Japanese and 16 Koreans have been killed and 4 Japanese and 10 Koreans are missing, as a result of the disturbances in Harbin.—Reuter.

BRITISH NAVAL DISASTER.

SUBMARINE NOT YET LOCATED.

London, Jan. 27.
 The Admiralty announce that no communication has hitherto been received from Submarine M2, consequently great anxiety is now felt for the safety of those aboard.

The submarine has not yet been located.—Reuter.

Poseidon Survivor.

London, Jan. 27.
 Able Seaman Thomas Morris, who is missing on the M2, is one of the survivors of the Poseidon. He dived into the sea when the Poseidon was sinking, and was picked up.

His trip on the M2 was the first time in months that he had been to sea, and he would have completed his submarine service in a month.—Reuter.

The Last Message.

London, Jan. 27.
 The M2 was exercising independently. The last message from her signifying that she was about to commence exercises was timed 10.11 a.m. In the afternoon H.M.S. Titania, the depot ship for submarines, reported that she could no longer maintain communication with M2, and when at 4.19 p.m. M2 did not return with the other submarines which had been exercising destroyers and submarines were sent to search for her.

Early this morning Rear Admiral Little, the Admiral commanding submarines at Portsmouth, was on the spot organising the search.

The M2 is equipped with the latest lifesaving devices, including the Davis escape apparatus, responsible for the rescue of six men in the Poseidon disaster last June.—British Wireless.

THE BRITISH FAIR.

SPECIAL FACILITIES FOR OVERSEAS BUYERS.

London, Jan. 27.
 Exceptionally large reductions in train, steamship and aeroplane fares are included in the travel concessions extended to Overseas buyers visiting the British Industries Fair, which opens in London and Birmingham on February 22.

Foreign as well as British railways are co-operating in the concessions, including reductions of 25 per cent. on German, Polish and Turkish railways, reductions of 25 and 33 1/3 per cent. on steamship fares from the principal North European ports, and large reductions on the British and continental air lines.—British Wireless.

ST. STEPHEN'S GIRLS COLLEGE.

LADY PEEL DISTRIBUTES THE AWARDS.

There was much of interest in the annual report of St. Stephen's Girls' College which was presented by the Principal, Miss E. S. Atkins, at the annual Speech Day, held in the Kwok Siu-lau Hall at the College yesterday afternoon. The Chair was occupied by the Bishop of Victoria and Lady Peel distributed certificates and cups won during the year.

Miss Atkins referred to the growth of the College from a handful of children in a room in Caine Road to its present size, and dwelt on the handicaps during the year occasioned by staff sickness. She also dealt with examinations which, she said, were satisfactory and made a reply to some people who had doubted the justification for such a school.

A varied programme was presented by the students prior to the distribution, the numbers being songs by the Lower and Upper Schools and the Kindergarten, a drill display by the Middle School, a violin solo by Bebe Koh, piano-forte solo by Li Wai-yin, "The Walrus and the Carpenter," and a presentation of the scene outside the Cathedral of Rheims after the Coronation from Bernard Shaw's, "Saint Joan," in which the following took part: Joan of Arc (Li Chi-yin), Jack Dunois (Mary Bragg), King Charles VII (Chung Lai-yin), Archbishop of Rheims (Eva Thomas), Capt. La Hire (Cheung Woon-pui) and Gilles de Rais (Lai Chung-chee).

The Chairman paid a warm tribute to the excellence of the programme. In presenting her report, Miss E. S. Atkins said, in part: During the last year we have reached our 25th birthday. Although I have only been here just over twelve years I have been in touch with the school practically since its beginnings (at any rate since 1907) and it has been a wonderful thing to watch it grow from the small beginning of a handful of children in a room in Caine Road and develop into what you see around you to-day. We have indeed a goodly heritage and have much to thank the founders of the school for and the Chinese parents who have supported and encouraged us all through. May we ever justify their faith and vision.

"During Adventure." Life is manifested in growth and development and it is interesting to trace it through these 25 years from the days when it was a new and rather daring adventure for a girl to go to school, especially to a boarding school, to these days when we are rejoicing over the graduation from the Hong Kong University of three more of our former students, and of one from Shanghai University.

Satisfactory Examinations. Our Examination results are satisfactory. Out of the three girls who sat for Matriculation, two passed and one passed Senior, and out of the eight who took Senior, five passed. In the Junior examination fourteen were entered and eleven passed, one with distinction in Botany, one with distinction in English and one with distinctions in Chinese and Music. It is particularly gratifying to have a distinction both in English and in Chinese, as this is an Anglo-Chinese School. It is our first distinction in Chinese for many years, and I hope it will not be the last. In the study of the Chinese Language a great deal is dependent on individual effort, and I hope this success may encourage the rest of the school to devote as much attention and concentration to their Chinese studies as they normally give to those in English.

Music Successes. The Trinity College of Music Examinations resulted in a 100 per cent. pass, greatly to the credit of Miss Bragg. The details are as follows:—Intermediate Division, one in piano-forte; Junior Division, five in piano-forte; Preparatory Division, six in piano-forte and one in violin; Elementary Division, Justification Doubted. Some people have doubted the justification for a school such as this, and if my report were to stop here, I might agree, but our aim is something beyond academic attainments and successes, and it is our hope and prayer that girls who pass through this College into wider spheres of work do so with the knowledge of the Love of a Heavenly Father, and with the Christian principles of Love, Truth, Honour and Unselfishness permeating every department of their daily life—in the classroom, in the playground, at home, at work, and in times of worship.

Charitable Work. The work of the school Y.W.C.A. has gone on steadily and the weekly visits to the hospital and the weekly prayer meetings. In speaking of these and of the Annual Sale of Work for Charities, I must speak not only for St. Stephen's Girls' College, but as Principal of the C.M.S. Associated Schools, i.e. Fairlie and St. Stephen's, for in these things the students of both schools work together. In a year of trade depression the takings at the Sale beat all previous records amounting to over $4,000. In addition money amounting to over $1,300 and service were rendered during last term in aid of the Flood Relief Fund for Central China, while 14 trunks full of clothes were sent in response to the appeal for clothes for those left destitute by the Flood. I say this in no boasting spirit, but rather in a spirit of thankfulness that we who have been blessed with much should have the privilege and opportunity of sharing it with others, and it is my hope that no appeal for help for a real need will ever fall here on deaf ears or unwilling hearts.

In the course of his speech, the Bishop said:—I should like to express my appreciation of the high standard set, and the self-sacrificing spirit shown, by the staffs of our various schools, and not least by the staff of this school. Not only does the staff of this school rank high with regard to its professional qualifications, but I always feel that here is exhibited a splendid spirit of camaraderie and that joyousness which accompanies a real sense of vocation. I have never said much about the staffs in our different schools before, but I cannot forbear from referring to their devotion as I speak to you to-day, because it has made a deep impression on my mind.

At the conclusion Lady Peel was presented with a bouquet of flowers.

ADDING-CALCULATOR.

YOU'LL GET THE RIGHT ANSWER.
THE FIRST TIME ON A MONROE

MISTAKES have a way of disguising themselves so that you often look right at them without recognizing them. That is one of the reasons why few accountants, estimators and others who handle business figures trust the first answer they get when they work without a Monroe Adding-Calculator.

Granted that checking figures back is a protection against mistakes, consider these three thoughts. First, it takes an enormous amount of time and nervous energy to check back on figures. Second, this expenditure of nervous energy increases the probability of overlooking errors and of repeating the same mistakes over and over. And third, when any part of the work is subject to human fallibility you can never be dead sure of the right answer, in spite of all the checking!

The simplest, safest and easiest way to relieve human minds of needless strain and at the same time guard against the mistakes human minds can't entirely avoid is to use a Monroe.

DEATH

BIRKETT: Died in London on 27th January 1932. Henry Birkett formerly of Hongkong.

The

THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1932.

ANOTHER NAVAL DISASTER.

Another grim tragedy which will plunge not only the Royal Navy but the whole nation in sorrow has to be added to the list of British submarine disasters as a consequence of the loss of the M.2, with all hands aboard. Here in Hongkong, a naval station, the loss will be especially felt, since it is more than likely that some of those who have gone down to their death were personally known to men of the China Squadron. Indeed, it is disclosed that amongst those who lost their lives were some of the survivors of the Poseidon disaster, a circumstance which invests the latest tragedy with a pathetic aspect. Sympathy, sincere and real, will also be felt by the whole community of the Colony, a community which knows and appreciates the value in this part of the world of the Senior Service.

The M.2, now lying at the bottom of the sea, has been the subject of considerable interest lately. One of Lord Fisher's freak submarines, she was first armed with a 12-inch gun, but this was subsequently replaced by a hangar and a small seaplane, the vessel then blossoming forth as Britain's first "undersea aircraft carrier." Her value in this role has, we noticed, been the subject of some doubt, and it was only a few weeks ago that she was reported to be going into dock for further alterations. In this connexion, it was argued that it was bad policy to spend money in this way on tinkering with what was described as worn-out naval craft. Be that as it may, the M.2 is now no longer an effective unit of the Navy; she has had her last cruise and now lies helpless on the sea bed. Her disappearance counts for nothing when compared with the heavy loss of life involved: brave men and true, who have died in the service of their King and country. When the Poseidon foundered, we learned from the survivors something of the terrible nightmare which the entrapped men suffered down in the hull of the submerged craft. It was a truly terrifying experience for all concerned, and the story, as told, gave the public some conception of the dangers which the gallant men of the Navy encounter when engaged in undersea exercises. It seems the irony of fate that amongst those who have now lost their lives should be some who managed to come safely through the Poseidon disaster—men undaunted by their previous experience, still ready and willing to serve in this hazardous life.

This latest disaster will doubtless revive the movement for the abolition of undersea craft, on the grounds of the needless exposure to risk which their use implies. At the last Disarmament Conference, Britain strongly urged the adoption of this policy, by agreement between the Powers, but she was unable to obtain support for the idea. It is to be hoped that the issue will figure prominently at next month's Conference in Geneva. Surely here is one matter on which it should be possible to find agreement, purely on humanitarian grounds. Despite all that marine engineering skill has accomplished, it has been demonstrated that undersea craft are still unsafe. That fact, taken in conjunction with the huge sums spent on submarines, is in itself sufficient argument for their abolition. If the M.2 disaster serves to bring this question to a head, it may be the means of saving untold loss of life in the future.

The Polish Minority Scandal.

Revelations of unabated Polish atrocities against the Ukrainian minority in East Galicia, contained in a special article published yesterday, concern instances of brutality and torture which one would have said were of purely medieval savagery. The suppression campaign has been pursued by the Poles with relentless enthusiasm for some years past, though few of the disgraceful facts have hitherto reached this part of the world. It is well understood that the Ukrainians, driven to despair by years of repression, have been responsible for acts of violence such as are not uncommonly provoked by misgovernment. But the barbarity of Poland's reprisals must surely be unique in a State which regards itself as civilised. It is not as though the plight of the Ukrainians is no concern of other peoples. Their rights were specifically guaranteed by the Polish Minorities Treaty of 1923, of which Britain, France, Italy and Japan are signatories. The treaty has been consistently ignored. Numerous complaints have been lodged with the League, particularly after the ruthless "pacification" programme of last year. The League then decided to appoint a Committee to investigate. Its Report was prepared for submission to the September session of the Council, but this was shelved until the meeting which has just opened at Geneva. It so happened that the rapporteur was Mr. Yoshizawa, now Japan's Foreign Minister, who was too busy justifying Japan's actions in Manchuria to tell the story of the ruthless cruelty going on unchecked in Poland. Poland recently ventured to "dispose" of the Minorities question, taking advantage of this unfortunate delay, by calling for a special Census, the form specially prepared to conceal the racial allegiances of the population, requiring every detail to be filled in in the Polish language, thinking thereby to convince a gullible world that there is no minority problem in Poland because there are no minorities! How they thought to convince the League that four million Ukrainians had been absorbed into the Polish race in a single Census Night, it is not for us to speculate. The League has permitted a great deal of treaty-flouting to go on in the Far East without protest. It will be interesting to see how she tackles less formidable Poland.

WEDDING DRESS
PROBLEM.ARRESTED TAILOR GRANTED BAIL.

That his client was a tailor and was at present making a wedding dress was the reason given by Mr. F. H. Losely, before Mr. Williams at the Central Police Court this morning, in applying for bail for a Northern Chinese who, together with two others, was charged with assault and demanding $100 with menaces.

Mr. Hin-shing Lo appeared on behalf of the complainant, with Mr. Losely representing the second defendant.

Mr. Losely asked for his client to be let out on $150 bail and remarked that unless he was granted bail he would not be able to complete the wedding dress, thus preventing the wedding taking place. Mr. Lo said that he was instructed to say the case was a very serious one. Although he did not object to bail he thought $150 would be too small and suggested $500. There was a possibility of more serious charges being preferred against the accused. He pointed out that there was a bill of lading involved, and charges in respect of this might be brought.

Mr. Lo mentioned that the defendant's premises had not yet been searched and it was desirable that they should be.

His Worship granted bail in the sum of $250 as from this afternoon after the necessary search had taken place. The case was adjourned for one week.

DUKE OF WELLINGTON'S WIN-DOWS SMASHED IN WEST-END.

I HAVE heard many gloomy forecasts for the New Year but not even the most despondent prophet expects to see such headlines as these in our newspapers within the next twelve months.

Yet a hundred years ago the events enumerated above actually occurred in England, and the best-informed people of that time expected far worse. The country gentry were fortifying their houses. Workmen and villagers throughout the land were buying arms and drilling. The whole social order seemed on the eve of breakdown. To make matters worse, an epidemic of Asiatic cholera was just starting, and Ireland was in the grip of famine.

Darkness Before Dawn.
Had we all been born a century earlier, our fears for the future would have been much greater and better founded than they are to-day, for we could not have known that this country, in 1832, stood on the threshold of two generations of almost uninterrupted prosperity and expansion, which would raise her to the position of the richest and most powerful nation in the world.

Therefore, dark as the horizon of this New Year may be, despair would be foolish; doubt is unnecessary; all that we need is resolution and energetic action. Hard times recur in the histories of nations as in the lives of individuals. 1832 was, and 1932 will be, a period of great strain for Britain. The political crisis that culminated in the Reform Act of a century ago, and the grave economic crisis in the midst of which we stand to-day, both had their origins in a victorious war which had exhausted the resources of the country.

What the historians wrote of the period following the Napoleonic Wars would apply equally well to the present time. "It had been hoped," says one authority, dealing with the crisis-year of 1832, "that the termination of the Great War and the restoration of peace conditions would bring prosperity and contentment, but these hopes were not realised. The decade after the war was a period of peculiar economic distress, social unrest and political agitation."

A World Crisis.
Such parallels extend even to the details of the two situations.

In 1832 British trade was stagnant; commercial failures were frequent; serious doubts existed as to the financial soundness of this country; bankers were worried about the possibility of a run on their deposits.

The great distinction between our present predicament and that which faced our forefathers a hundred years ago lies in the fact that the existing economic crisis is not a national but a world-wide one. If 1932 brings fuller recognition of this aspect of our troubles it may be the year that sees the beginning of their end. Economic nationalism is one of the prime causes of the general slump. Present-day industry, with its huge output capacity, resembles a steam plough. It cannot be profitably employed in a small field. The field of the world's markets has been cut up into tiny patches by tariff walls. If civilisation is to prosper these must come down.

For that to be achieved, Britain requires a tariff too. We shall never get other governments to reduce their restrictions upon imports until we are in a position to make corresponding concessions. The Western American sheriff does not go unarmed to pacify quarrelling gunmen. He carries two revolvers to their one, and in consequence there is seldom any shooting.

British tariffs will prove a potent instrument for bringing other states to reason. We might say to Denmark, for instance: "At present you sell your dairy produce to us without hindrance, but you import by far the greater amount of your requirements in manufactured goods from Germany, the United States and Sweden. In future, you must take 75 per cent. of your manufactured imports from Britain, or we shall put a duty on the foodstuffs you ship to us."

Within a month the Danish Government would have complied with our request and as a direct consequence the countries which now sell to Denmark would be much more disposed to discuss all-round reductions of tariffs than will ever be the case so long as we continue to supply Denmark with the money which she passes on to their exporters.

Co-operation Imperative.
If I were asked to express in a single phrase my best hope for 1932, I should say—International Economic Co-operation.

Adversity has taught the world one thing—that economic troubles are not the individual affair of any nation.

Hitherto people have said: "Germany is depressed"; "Austria is bankrupt"; "France is prosperous"; "Britain is in grave danger." Such local diagnosis is absurd.

We should think a man extremely foolish who remarked: "My stomach is very ill, but my head and limbs are all right!"

The world's trade and finance, like the human body, form an interdependent organism. When one part is diseased, the rest inevitably becomes involved. Until a few months ago, France and the United States still believed that they could maintain themselves in secure isolation from the pestilence of trade depression beyond their frontiers. To-day all their tariff walls and gold bars have proved inadequate to keep out the infection. Each of those countries is filled with profound anxiety about its economic health.

Help the Weaker Nations.
The peril that confronts us in 1932 is a universal one. It cannot be dealt with piecemeal. The great civilised nations are like a heap of men floundering in the mud at the bottom of a pit. Some of them are ancient enemies; some are creditors, some are debtors—but all such individual grievances must stand over until they have helped each other out on to firm ground again. If they slay to squabble about indebtedness, reparations, territorial injustices, or disparity in armaments, they will sink deeper and deeper until the slime engulfs the lot. The only sensible course is for the stronger to hoist the weaker on their shoulder until they are all out of the hole—whereupon general relief at escape from danger will do much to abate their mutual antagonism.

International co-operation can alone revive international confidence.

If this spirit inspires the Reparations Conference where it meets, it may prove the turning-point of the world's fortunes—but should a jealous nationalism prevent the world's economic

HOW TO IMPROVE ENGLISH.SUGGESTED CLUB FOR STUDENTS.*COUNTRY RAMBLES.

Advice as to how they could improve their colloquial English was given to boys of Yummat Government School by Mr. A. R. Sutherland, this morning, when the annual school prize-giving took place.

Mr. Sutherland suggested that one method of making progress in colloquial English was for the boys to form themselves into an English-Speaking Club, to meet once, twice or three a week during the holidays and to ramble among the Kowloon hills determined to speak nothing but English. They could exchange views and describe what they had seen in the course of their rambles, and this would benefit them not only from the point of view of speaking better English, but would add to their knowledge of the countryside around them.

Mrs. A. R. Sutherland distributed the prizes, and was afterwards the recipient of a basket of flowers, while Mr. C. Mycock, the Head Master, expressed the thanks of the school to her for presenting the awards.

Annual Report.

In the course of his annual report, the Head Master stated that the school was opened 393 times and the maximum enrolment was 257. The average daily attendance was 211, or 97.47%. The absence in most cases have been caused by sickness. The railway disaster in April at Taipei interfered with the attendance at boys from the New Territories, but it was praiseworthy to find that so many of them walked to school until leave of absence was granted them.

The discipline throughout the school remains good. There have been cases of misbehaviour during Chinese in Class 5, but they were of a very minor nature.

Dr. Laine, the Assistant M. O. Schools, carried out inspections on three occasions during the year. 35 boys received Government spectacles. To Dr. Lee Ying-yun at the Public Dispensary and the M. O. Kowloon, we owe thanks for their treatment of 63 cases of minor illness. I think parents are now beginning to appreciate the value of these inspections by showing a greater willingness than formerly to act on recommendations made. An invitation to be present at these inspections is extended to all parents or guardians concerned.

Studies.

In English, 232 boys were examined and 197 passed, 85%. In Chinese, 232 boys were examined and 202 passed, 87%. The general standard of work, considering the material we have is high. Boys from the New Territories are generally speaking backward in comparison with the town boys. By the time they reach Class 5 and 6, they have usually gravitated to the B Division. I would like to see an improvement in the Standard of Oral and Written Composition in most classes. Class 4 presented 29 boys for examination, of whom 19 passed or 65.5%. Four boys failed in Chinese. The results were as expected and conformed to those of the Half-Yearly Examination. The class did not do itself justice in either mathematics or geography.

In June the Chinese Y.M.C.A. Kowloon, organised a Chinese Essay Competition open to teams of four from all schools in Kowloon for a Cup kindly presented by Mr. Fung Keung. Wong Ting-hon obtained 96 marks and was placed 2nd in the test. The team won the cup with a total of 366/400 marks.

The Library is used almost daily. The supply of periodicals has been maintained, and the boys are beginning to show a little more decided interest in the affairs of the outside world. I wish to thank my Staff for their loyal support and co-operation during the year. With a continuance of the happy tone prevailing in the school, it is an easy matter to predict progress and success in the future.

INDIAN SCHOOL PRIZE DAY.EXCELLENT YEAR'S WORK REPORTED.*NEEDS OF FUTURE.

Owing to sickness, Mr. A. C. Arcull was unable to present the prizes to the scholars of the Ellis Kadoorie School for Indians, at Sookunpoo, this morning. The ceremony was performed by Mrs. A. T. Hamilton, wife of a former Headmaster. Among those present were Mr. A. O. Brown, of the Education Department, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hamilton and Mr. R. M. Omar.

In presenting his report, the Rev. G. E. S. Upsdell (Headmaster) said: During the year ending December 31, the school was opened for 229 days as against 228 in 1930. The maximum enrolment during the year was 146, being an increase of 10 over the previous year. The average attendance was 131.37, while that in 1930 was 126.

In February, Mr. Hamilton was transferred to be Head of Ellis Kadoorie School and I have been in charge from March. In July Mr. Hardt Singh returned from leave and greater attention was thus possible to the Junior section of 84.

White ants were discovered in 8A class room door posts and window frames and these renewed. The whole school was re-wired by the Electrical Department of the P.W.D. replacing the old wooden casing with lead covered wire, the former having become obsolete. Owing to the increasing number of Indian boys in the Colony the question of further accommodation is becoming to show itself.

Discipline has been excellent throughout, due to a large extent to the influence of the prefects especially during the recess and after hours.

Six out of the 13 boys in Class 1 passed the entrance examination into Queen's College, and the rest of the school 92 per cent of the boys passed the examination at the end of the year into the higher classes. The standard of English still remains very good but the weakness in mathematics has not altogether been overcome.

Sport Activities.

Cricket and football still remain very popular which is a great asset as both of these games very materially assist in character development. During the hot months ping-pong received its full attention. We are indebted to the Inspector General of Police for kindly providing a drill instructor for the first half of the year.

The health of the school was very good which is only to be expected considering the excellent conditions under which the boys study and the great attention given to them by the Medical Officer of Schools. The whole Staff and School were vaccinated at the end of the year under the supervision of Mr. M. A. Khan.

The Library continues to be made full use of by the boys and needs enlarging to meet the increased numbers of the school.

Our thanks are due to Mr. A. C. Arcull for kindly defraying the fees of four boys; to the late Sir Ellis Kadoorie for the endowment of a scholarship fund by which 25 boys have had their school fees paid for them as well as for providing the splendid building and grounds at our disposal; in addition to which he provides a scholarship from this school to Queen's College; to Mr. Wu Hing-long for a scholarship tenable at Queen's College for three years; to the members of the Indian community for subscribing towards the prizes and expenses of our annual school sports, and to the members of the Indian Recreation Club for the use of their ground.

In conclusion may I take this opportunity of sincerely thanking all the members of the staff for their loyal co-operation and support throughout the year.

Mr. Brown thanked Mrs. Hamilton for her presence, and at her request, the scholars were given a half holiday.

CIRCUS VERY POPULAR.BIG AUDIENCE LAST NIGHT.

The lure of the "Sawdust Ring" again drew a very large audience to Harman's Circus at Kowloon last night. Every item given was greatly appreciated and it is indeed difficult to single out acts, so high is the general standard of excellence.

Lovers of horses must admire the beautiful animals, trained to perfection by Mr. Harman, while the equestrian riding and balancing feats excite the greatest admiration.

It is gratifying to see that big attendances have been recorded each evening of the season so far, for such an aggregation of talent is well worthy of the fullest support.

ernment have sent a communication to London which is now under the examination of the British Government, regarding the situation in Shanghai.

According to press reports, the Chinese authorities continue to display indecision regarding the Japanese demand for the suppression of the anti-Japanese boycott and the demonstrations which are taking place in Shanghai, and drastic action is threatened failing a satisfactory reply.

An atmosphere of tension exists and precautions are being taken for the maintenance of order in the International Settlement, where there is an influx of refugees.—Refugees.

Refugees.

Shanghai, Jan. 28. The Japanese Consul-General has ordered the withdrawal of Japanese residents from Hangchow and Wuhu. Those in ports in the upper Yangtze are being ordered to Hankow.

Apprehension among the Chinese in Shanghai consequent on threat of Japanese occupation, has caused numerous wealthy families to move into the Settlement.—Reshuffle.

THEFT OF DUTCH GUILDERS.STRANGER DEPRIVED OF MONEY.

Entrusted by a casual friend with five Dutch guilders, a Chinese who had introduced a stranger to the Colony to a boarding house, suddenly disappeared and was not seen again until some days later, when he was pointed out to the police and arrested on a charge of larceny by bail.

The arrested man was brought before Mr. Williams at the Central Police Court this morning and sentenced to five weeks' hard labour.

Inspector Shaffin informed his Worship that the complainant recently returned to the Colony from one of the Dutch ports and whilst at the recreation ground in Hollywood Road he met the defendant, with whom he had a chat. The defendant introduced the complainant to a boarding house and later suggested that the complainant hand over his money to defendant for safe custody, whereupon the complainant gave the defendant the five guilders.

DOG WITHOUT A MUZZLE.DEFENDANT REPROVED AT KOWLOON.

Mr. W. M. Gittins appeared before Mr. Fraser at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning in answer to a summons for allowing his dog in the street without a muzzle.

His Worship:—You are here now in another capacity, Mr. Gittins.

Mr. Gittins, who prosecuted recently in a case in which a youth was charged with attempting to steal tools from his motor-car, said: Yes, your Worship.

Asked why he was not in Court last week, Mr. Gittins explained that he was busy and was unable to come.

His Worship:—You run a risk, you know, in not answering your summons. However, under the circumstances, we will not take that into consideration. Do you plead guilty?

Mr. Gittins: Oh, yes, your Worship.

A fine of $5 was imposed.

troubles from being tackled with unanimity, we shall continue to sink into stagnation and poverty. A new Dark Age will be upon us, and both this generation and the next will then be confronted by such desperate conditions as existed in Russia for the first ten years after the Bolshevik Revolution.

Expediency rather than equity must govern the counsels of the nations. No country can afford to insist too strongly upon its claims, however justified, if their fulfilment would put the rest of the world in peril. The question to be faced is not whether national rights shall be preserved, but whether civilisation can be saved from collapse.

Our Own Problems.

Enlightened international action is the first essential of our salvation, but there remain many difficulties to be met at home.

I foresee that we shall need this year much of that dogged spirit which brought the British nation through the dark hours of the war. Financially, in fact, the war is still on.

Ever since the Peace Treaty was signed I have never ceased to impress upon the public that the war was yet unpaid for. I repeated it twelve months ago, and I add now what I added then, that we are living far too high. Between 1914 and 1920 the British Government spent more money than in the previous 2½ centuries. We have hardly begun to make up that leeway yet.

Economic laws are ruthless in their action. The time has come when we must either cut down our expenditure or collapse. Retrenchment will be all the harder for our delay in starting, but at last the nation knows its stern necessity, and we have a strong National Government pledged to carry it out. There are grim times ahead. Let us set our teeth and determine to see them through.

The year that opens this morning may not prove a prosperous one for many. But what I say is this:

1932, like 1832, will be a time of testing for our country. Face its trials boldly; bear them patiently, and perhaps in a twelvemonth we can all be looking forward to a prosperous New Year in 1933.

"If that endureth to the end shall be saved."

THE SIM SHIELD.

PRESENTED TO WINNERS
YESTERDAY.

The Hongkong Hockey Club, the winners of the Sim Shield, were defeated by the Royal Navy by one goal to nil in their return fixture on the Navy ground, Kowloon, yesterday afternoon.

It was a surprising defeat, in view of the performances that the Club had given in their previous encounters, but the Navy men played extraordinarily well, and meted their victory. They were in the picture during the major portion of the game, and their forwards put up a splendid showing. They were also a faster lot than the Hongkong Club men, and combined to better effect.

The Navy were given other chances of scoring, but their impetuosity spoilt these openings. Fletcher, who scored the only point of the match, had the Club goalie at his mercy on one occasion, but shot hard and straight, and Gregory was able to stop the ball with his pads. On the rebound, Fletcher was given another chance of shooting, and sent the ball high to the left corner of the goal, but Gregory effected a surprising save with his left hand.

The Navy backs effectively coped with the few breakaways of the Club forwards, and with powerful clearances transferred the ball to their opponents' territory. Condie, Bowen was responsible for some fine work at left back, and was ably assisted by Lt. Kennett. The goalie, Higham, had practically nothing to do, except towards the end.

The Club forwards were very disappointing, and did not combine as well as they had done in previous matches. Owen Hughes and D. B. Evans were hard working, but even they could not work a miracle. Perhaps, the best player on their side was W. A. Reed at half back. He played splendidly in the first half, and stopped many a dangerous Navy movement. Gregory did exceedingly well in goal, and but for him the Naval score might have been greater.

The goal scored by the Navy was towards the end of the first half, when Fletcher netted with a low drive after dribbling the ball up from the left inside position. Previous to this he had missed a golden opportunity of scoring.

At the close of the game, Mrs. Huxford, the wife of Capt. Huxford, captain of the Army team, presented the shield to A. A. Dand, captain of the Club team.

The teams were as follows:
Club: Gregory, Woodard, Rodger, W. A. Reed, Dand, A. R. Hetherington, Owen Hughes, D. B. Evans, C. C. Francis, E. V. Reed and E. C. Fincher.

Navy: Higham, Lt. Kennett, Cdr. Bowen, Lt. Haslefoot, Lt. Wilkinson, Lt. Cdr. Banks, Lt. Rivington, Cdr. Shelley, Lt. Cdr. Wheeler, Mid. Fletcher and Lt. Bowerman.

Last week-end was the final opportunity of qualifying and the successful players were T. J. Price (79-10) and A. Laughton (82-12).

The following is the result of the draw for the Captain's Cup competition to be played on or before Sunday: (It will be noted that the handicaps of the two above-mentioned players have been reduced):

THE RIFLE CLUB.

NEW RANGE AT KOWLOON
TONG READY.

Those interested in the newly-formed Hongkong Rifle Club will be glad to hear that the new rifle range at Kowloon Tong is now ready. Apart from matches, it is eventually hoped to have a miniature rifle range and a revolver range.

Application forms for membership to the Club have been circulated by Mr. E. R. Dorey, the Hon. Secretary. It is understood that rules are being prepared and it is anticipated that a general public meeting will again be called about the middle of February.

The membership of the Club is open to the Services, ex-Services men, volunteers, ex-volunteers who have attained efficiency here or in some other part of the Empire, Police, Police Reservists and Ex-Reservists who have received the Police Reserve Silver Badge.

The new range has been provided by the Government, which has stipulated that persons eligible for the Volunteers but not members be not invited to become members of the Rifle Club.

KOWLOON RUGBY.

HOME TEAM DEFEAT SIDE
FROM CUMBERLAND.

A team from the Kowloon Rugby Club met a fifteen from H. M. S. Cumberland at Kowloon yesterday, and after a vigorous game, the home team won by eight points to nil.

The Kowloon men put up a much better showing than in recent games, but the Cumberland players never allowed them to take things too easily. The Navy forwards worked hard, but the three were unable to break through.

Ferguson scored first for Kowloon, touching down after kicking the ball across the line. Wilson's kick just failed. Crozier touched down in the second half for Kowloon, and Wilson converted.

PEAK HOUSE
TRAGEDY.18-YEAR GIRL CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER.

NO MURDER CHARGE.

The coolie named Chiu Sim, who was charged with having murdered a cook named Ho Fat in a Peak house on January 18, was charged with manslaughter when the hearing of the case was commenced before Mr. Williams at the Central Police Court yesterday afternoon. Mr. H. Somerset Fitzroy (Public Prosecutor) remarking that there was no malice, albeit the Crown did not propose proceeding with the capital charge.

Mr. Fitzroy said that the case was one in which the girl, Chau Sim, aged 18, employed was originally charged before his Worship with murder but having considered all the circumstances he (the prosecutor) did submit to his Worship a charge of manslaughter and on that charge the Crown proposed to proceed.

Detailing the events leading to the arrest of the accused, Mr. Fitzroy said that on January 18 the accused was in the kitchen of 112, The Peak, and seemed to have got a certain amount of boiling water from the cook (the deceased). She then went down to the bathroom to wash her hair and later returned to the kitchen for some more water. There seemed to have been some trouble between them, the cook refusing to give her any more water, but it was doubtful as to what actually happened.

Mr. Fitzroy said that the house was occupied by two distinct parties and one of them had already had breakfast. A tray had been taken into the kitchen containing a small knife which was as sharp as a razor.

The girl had picked up the knife and a dispute ensued. Whether she had previously picked up the knife and some of the water had been spilt over her foot was not known but it might have happened. A dispute ensued and the girl stabbed the man in the left chest with the knife which apparently went in up to the hilt and through the lungs. The girl then supported the man's head after he had fallen to the floor and the alarm was raised. There were two witnesses there but they did not see all that had happened and they would, consequently, differ somewhat as to what took place.

Beyond Medical Help.

The knife which was stated to have been used was produced by Mr. Fitzroy who remarked that it seemed to have been picked up by the accused and dropped to the floor. The occupants of the house then proceeded to get in touch with the medical people and Dr. J. W. Anderson arrived. Nothing could be done for the deceased, who died shortly afterwards.

The man's wife had been staying on the premises that night, if not longer, and would be called as a witness.

Taking all things into consideration, continued Mr. Fitzroy, there did not appear to be premeditation but something which had happened on the spur of the moment. There was a carving knife on the table if anybody had wanted to do any damage. When his Worship had heard the evidence he would realise that the case was not one where there had been malice, albeit, expressed or implied.

After evidence had been called the case was adjourned.

GRADUATES MEET.

ASSOCIATION 'DECIDES TO SECURE HEADQUARTERS.'

Sir William Harnell (Vice-Chancellor) was "at home" to graduates and past students of the Hongkong University yesterday afternoon, and after an enjoyable tea was partaken of, the first annual meeting of the Hongkong University Graduates' Association was held in the great hall.

Mr. H. Hong Sling, Vice-Chancellor for the past year, presided over a large attendance. In addressing the gathering he said in part:

We are here to-day in conformity with our constitution which requires us to hold an annual meeting in January of each year. This is the first meeting of its kind and I think that we may congratulate ourselves that we have successfully passed through our first year of life without serious ailments or mishaps.

An organization of this kind is most difficult to nurture. All of us are relatively young people, most of us only a few short years after leaving these halls of learning. As a matter of fact, our Alma Mater herself is not such an old lady! New problems and weighty decisions face us daily. New associations and friendships must be formed. We are thrown in the midst of a different environment, after the tranquil "academic calm" among these buildings and pathways, when we enter into the work of the world. As a result, our Association has been faced with the great problem of overcoming the natural inertia of the average graduate or former student in our various activities. Our efforts have been devoted to stimulating as much interest as possible in the work of making our Association a vital and useful organization.

Worth While.

My reply to an inquiry as to the worth of this Association is to ask the inquirer in return, if he wishes to further the value of his own instruction which he has received in this University. If he so desires, and all of us naturally do, then I inform him that solidarity and co-operation among our graduates will enhance the prestige of our degrees, and therefore, of our own work, in whatever field of endeavor we may be engaged.

And finally, among ourselves, the Association can be a centre of information concerning our whereabouts, our activities, our state of health, and our success and achievements in whatever line of work in which we may be engaged.

We have had, during the course of the past year, numerous occasions on which it was intended to bring members and associate-members together in order that a better understanding could be reached. These various activities will be included in the report of our indefatigable honorary secretary, Mr. Kwong Sik-kwong. I wish to acknowledge here my great debt to the work which Mr. Kwong has put in for the Association, as well as my deep appreciation for the support and co-operation, which the honorary treasurer and the members of the Committee have shown me; particularly Drs. Samy and Yeo.

Mr. W. Hall, who was the first Hon. Secretary, was compelled to resign his post due to poor health, but before his resignation, he did yeoman service for the Association. We hope that his recovery will be rapid.

Officers Elected.

After the report of the secretary and treasurer had been presented and adopted, the election of officers for the year followed. This resulted as follows:

Mr. H. Hong Sling, M.A., Chairman; Dr. K. C. Yeo, M.D., B.S.,

CORRESPONDENCE.

Bathing Benches.

[To the Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.]

Sir,—The Government's strong determination to suppress prostitution within three years in this Colony has been shown by its flat refusal to the application for postponement of the suppression to a later date.

It will be laudable if the Government will make another step towards the development of physical health of the population under its administration and this can be easily achieved by opening more recreation grounds and more bathing benches to the use of the public. Hongkong, with a population of over 400,000 on the island alone, is claimed to be a hot summer port in the Far East, but the recreation afforded to the population is very scanty indeed.

It is rumoured that the Government will soon resume the beach on which the costly and beautiful pavilions of the Chinese Bathing Club, South China Athletic Association and the Chinese Civil Servants Club are situated and sell it to some syndicate for the erection of factories. In Hongkong the summer is long and the only recreation the inhabitants can enjoy during the hot summer days is sea bathing. The resumption of this locality will mean depriving thousands of people of the cool and refreshing enjoyment.

In view of its large population the beach opened to public bathing is far from sufficient and if the rumour turns out true the already scanty bathing facilities will be further diminished.

The Government has the welfare of the community to consider, and as it is wise in its resolution to rid the Colony of its immoral business it is hoped that the present bathing facilities which have an important bearing upon the health of the community, will be allowed to remain and that more beaches will be opened to meet the growing demand of the public. Hongkong will then be a port which can boast of its stand towards morality and good health.

PROCLAMATION.

Riga, Jan. 27.

It is reported from Moscow that a "Manchurian Republic" will be proclaimed shortly.

Those elected to form the general committee were Mr. Kwong Sik-kwong, B.A., Dr. D. K. Samy, M.D., B.S., L.M. (Dub.), Mr. H. Bragg, B.Sc. (Eng.), Dr. Ozorio, M.B., B.S., L.M.S.H., Mr. S. V. City Headquarters.

A suggestion that the Association should have a central headquarters was agreed to, and it was decided to rent a small place in the central district. So far, the chairman declared, the Association had carried on without headquarters of any kind, much to its disadvantage.

GEMS OF PERIL.

die him! Can't shoot the fellow down in cold blood, but there are other ways—Where's Hendricks? Suddenly he was a bundle of energy, cracking out commands. "Tell Hendricks to get up steam at once. We sail at midnight. If Bates shows up then, O. K. If not we'll go without him."

"Where to?" Mary asked in amazement.

"Tell him Dry Tortugas."

"You're going to take him—fishing with you?"

The old man did not answer. A demoniac gleam was in his eye. "I'll show him some—fishing," he promised savagely. Wondering, Mary ran to carry his order to Captain Hendricks.

"And captain, send a man ashore to look for Mr. Bates and Bruce. If they don't return within the half hour. We don't want to be delayed waiting for them."

Hendricks was deeply impressed by the order. He stood a moment lost in thought, but he did not seem ill-pleased—on the contrary, strangely excited and rather happy.

"So—you've got him trapped, eh?" he mused. He was a hearty, vital sort of man, fond of life and with an insatiable love of adventure which his seafaring life managed to satisfy only in part. He was as interested in the capture of Mrs. Jupiter's murderer as any outsider could be. And as for the imminent struggle with a dangerous criminal, Mary could have sworn he was looking forward to it with keen anticipation!

The fly wheeled about as she came up behind him, with the alacrity of a man trained to keep his face toward his enemies.

"You mustn't think of going ashore tonight," Mary told him. "I'll have the steward prepare one of the vacant staterooms for you. Did you like your drink?" There was a faint suggestion of archness, a softly caressing note in her voice that caught his ear instantly the ear of a born Don Juan, keenly attuned to such nuances.

He began a conventional protest, but she hurried on:

"Please! Mr. Jupiter is so anxious to avoid publicity and the reporters will pounce on you if you set foot ashore. If they come here, we can refuse to see them. But that one on the pier may still be waiting—there may be dozens by now—She shuddered, and moved a trifle nearer.

"Besides, that girl on the roof, the one for whom you danced?" He looked at her in surprise, and she shook a roguish finger at him. "Ah, you didn't think I knew? If you go back now, I shall think you go back to her!"

His gallantry challenged, he spent the next half hour protesting the charge, inflamed with the ardor of the chase, held in spite of himself by the spell of this girl's loveliness, doubly potent in the cool moonlight. It was nearly midnight before Mary could get away, utterly worn and nerve-wracked from the strain of being alluring without actually submitting to his advances.

Finally she sent him to his stateroom in a steward's charge. She undressed wearily. Thank God, they would be under way soon. Bates had not arrived, nor Bruce HANDICRAFT RESTRICTIONS CAUSE PROTEST.

The Government's decision to restrict the number of handicrafts in Hongkong was discussed at the monthly meeting of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon, when the Secretary, Mr. Lee Wan-kam, informed the meeting that the Tung Tak Labour Union had petitioned the Chamber proposing that the Chinese representatives on the Legislative Council should approach the Government, asking the authorities to reconsider their decision. The petitioners stated that the restriction would throw many labourers out of employment.

Mr. M. K. Lo commented that the present restrictions and future cancellation of the use of handicrafts would produce hardship to labourers who looked to this form of vehicle for their daily earnings. He recommended that the Chamber should reinforce the labourers' petition. He also referred to the hardship on small firms which used the handicrafts as their sole means of transporting goods. The meeting agreed to act on Mr. Lo's suggestion that a letter should be sent to the Chinese members on the Legislative Council giving the Chamber's opinions.

and the Countess. But any minute might bring them.

She slipped on a negligee and went out on deck for a last look toward shore. The yacht was quiet except for a muffled pounding and stir below decks where the fireman was tending his oil burners under the boiler. Mr. Jupiter's room was just around the corner from her own. One of his stateroom windows opened on the deck beside where she was standing. She slipped quietly along and stopped just by the porthole. A reassuring snore sounded within the stateroom and she sighed with relief. Stepping on around the corner she saw what seemed to be a shadow disappearing around the forward bulkhead. Stifling a scream she crept back into the shadows.

DEATH OF MR. H. BIRKETT.

WON LOCAL DERBY IN 1922.

DIES IN LONDON.

The news of the death in London of Mr. Henry Birkett, former well-known broker and pony-owner, will be heard with deep regret by a wide circle of friends in Hongkong, and much sympathy will be felt for the widow and daughter.

News of the sad event was received in the Colony by cable this morning, this being the effect that Mr. Birkett passed away yesterday.

The late Mr. Birkett, who was about 68 years of age, came to the Colony some twelve years ago, prior to which he was with Messrs. Smith, Bell and Co. in Manila. Subsequently, he started in the exchange broking business, being a member of the firm of Birkett and Holden. On coming to Hongkong, he joined the well-known broking firm of Moxon and Taylor, and he remained here for some years, subsequently returning to England. About two years ago, however, he paid a visit to the Colony.

Apart from his business connection, the late Mr. Birkett will be remembered for his association with the pony-racing in the Colony. He joined the Jockey Club on arrival here, became a member of the Club, and was Clerk of the Course in 1921. He was the owner of a string of ponies, and in 1922 he won the Derby with Sunstar. Mr. Boyle being the jockey. A keen sportsman, he was of a most genial disposition, and made many friends.

Left to mourn his death are a widow and daughter, the latter being the wife of Lieut.-Com. E. Dangerfield, R.N., who is now serving aboard H.M.S. Nelson with the Atlantic Fleet.

SILVER AGAIN DECLINES.

THE LOCAL MARKET. EASIER.

The Hongkong dollar still remains unchanged, although silver is down both in London and New York. There is a slight easing under the market locally, but Shanghai rates are steady.

In London, silver declined 1/16th both for spot and forward. China and India sold, and China bought at the decline. The market was quiet at the opening, and after the official holding off.

In New York, silver is down a quarter, with the market dull. Futures have declined.

A PARTNERSHIP DISPUTE.

INDIAN SUES TWO OTHERS.

A lawsuit between Indians was commenced in the Supreme Court this morning before the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph Kemp) concerning a claim for accounts and enquiries between the parties as the result of an alleged partnership.

Plaintiff is Rattanchand Jaramdas, of China Building, who is suing Pritamdas Hashimtrai Vasant and Utomai Thadani, No. 25, Wyndham Street. Plaintiff claims that on January 15, 1929, he entered into partnership with the defendants for five years, but the partnership was dissolved by agreement on January 31, 1930, plaintiff then retiring from the partnership. On the date of the dissolution it was verbally agreed that an account should be taken, but the defendants refused to take such an account.

Plaintiff's claim is for (1) accounts and enquiries, (2) payment of the amount found due, and (3) other and further relief and costs. Defendants deny that on any date they entered into partnership with plaintiff, and claim that he is not, therefore, entitled to the claim set out.

It is alleged by plaintiff that for the sum of $4,000 he became a partner in the importing and exporting business of Messrs. Jaramdas and Company, No. 25 Wyndham Street, but the other side claim it was a loan which was to earn 20 per cent. of the net profits, but did not carry partnership with it.

Mr. Leo D'Almeida, junior, instructed by Mr. Leo D'Almeida, senior, is for plaintiff, and Mr. E. C. Jenkin, instructed by Mr. E. C. Randall, of Messrs. Ross and Company, is for defendant. The case is proceeding.

LORD IRWIN ON INDIA.

WILLINGDON POLICY DEFENDED.

London, Jan. 27. Speaking at Leeds to-day on the situation in India, Lord Irwin, ex-Viceroy, said he could not doubt that responsibility for the recent rupture lay with the Congress Party. Constructive Congress building for Congress to follow was wide open, and for that reason, he said, their action had been unnecessary and unjustifiable.

He thought that both the Government here and the Government of India had no choice but to take the action they had taken in the last few weeks. It had been suggested that they had gone back on the policy pursued when he was Viceroy. That was a complete misrepresentation of the facts.

The Government disliked the application of the present policy

EMPIRE TRADE POLICY.

ALL MUST SHARE IN CONCESSIONS.

FREE DISCUSSION.

London, Jan. 27. Preparations for the Imperial Economic Conference, provisionally fixed for the second week in July at Ottawa, are making good progress.

The Dominions Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas, in an interview, said representatives of the British Government would attend unhampered by adherence to the particular policy which had hitherto guided British policy. For the Conference to achieve lasting and beneficial results, the concessions must not be all on one side, and for this reason the British Government had a special interest in the viewpoints of the Dominions, whose individual interests differed widely. An advance detailed examination was consequently essential, and here and in the Dominions the representatives of the Governments concerned were in contact.

A Cabinet Committee, under the former Premier, Mr. Stanley Bledsoe, is directing preparatory work in Australia, and the South African Government has appointed representatives for a similar purpose. The British Government are discussing trade questions with bodies in England, and tomorrow Mr. Thomas will meet the British Committee on Empire Trade, comprising representatives of the Federation of British Industries, the Association of British Chambers of Commerce, the Chamber of Shipping, and representatives of several manufacturing and trade associations.

Mr. Thomas said that to advance the date of the Conference was impossible in view of domestic affairs here and in the Dominions, and of the preliminary work to be done. Meanwhile, no negotiations whatever on trade relations with foreign countries would be undertaken that would prejudice a free and unfettered discussion at Ottawa. British Wireless.

Charged with having committed an armed robbery at No. 225, Leichok Road on January 16, with two others, in custody Chan King was committed to the next Criminal Sessions by Mr. Fraser at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning, when all the evidence for the prosecution was concluded. Detective Sergeant Goodwin was in charge of the case.

as much as anyone else, and there was nothing vindictive about their action. He did not suppose that if he had been in India to-day he would have acted any differently from the present Viceroy, Lord Willingdon. British Wireless.
